

The Research Plan is a statement agreed by the candidate and principal supervisor which identifies goals for achievement during the first 12 months of candidature and proposes a timeline to completion of the research.

Goals for the first 12 months may include attending relevant coursework units (including language learning), producing an annotated bibliography and/or thesis outline, preparing a literature survey, drafting portions of the thesis, and presenting to a research seminar and/or Advisory Panel.

Goals for subsequent semesters will typically include drafting chapters, data gathering and analysis, finalising chapters, presenting papers at research seminars and conferences, and writing articles for journals.
